My Company

Since 1983 I have worked diligently to build an interiors consulting firm focusing on client needs. I have had the opportunity to work on a multitude of public and private spaces. Both have provided me the creative challenges and personal relationships that I seek to feel successful in my profession.

My Company Focus

Service is my primary focus. As an Interiors Consultant, my business is built on my relationship with my clients and the knowledge that I provide quality service.

I believe that communication and partnering with my client's design team is what creates a successful project. The client's goals and objectives are key to all design projects.

I endeavor to create a collaborative and effective plan, a functional and innovative design and I work at a fair and realistic approach through the implementation process.

My Company Promise

To listen to my client's needs and challenges; to understand their cares and concerns, working to meet the demands that owners face in today's work environment.

To work diligently and creatively on design solutions for every client and project that I undertake.

To provide quality services which include communication, performance, integrity, honesty and working solely to meet the needs of my client.
